Re: British Telecommunications PLC v. Google Inc.
C.A. No. 11-1249 (LPS)

Dear Judge Stark:

I write on behalf of Defendant Google Inc. Google has today filed an emergency motion to require plaintiff British Telecommunications plc ("BT") to provide required sections of the Pretrial Order. As part of the Pretrial Order exchange BT was required to provide an identification of, and the facts supporting, its infringement claims along with its witness list this past Friday. BT failed to provide meaningful sections, making it impossible for Google to respond with its sections of the Pretrial Order. Because Google's response to the Pretrial Order is due in two weeks, on December 31, Google requests consideration of this motion on an expedited basis.

Counsel are available to answer any questions Your Honor may have.

Respectfully,

Paul Saindon (#5110)
